Come Now & Eat

The volunteers at Come Now & Eat in Cadott had a crazy week. Between roasting turkeys and preparing for their monthly meal AND serving at the Cadott Pop-Up, they were able to laugh while they experienced hurting feet and aching bodies.

As people came through their doors to enjoy a warm meal, they were left speechless with the kind words from the guests, many of whom were their friends from the Pop-Up.

"We are so thankful for you."

"We never leave hungry."

"We are always met with kindness and smiles."

"We know you will take care of us."

Remember your words and actions matter. People will remember how you made them feel.

Partner Highlight

Hornets Market

"Central Wisconsinites will have another way to receive free food items as the School District of Colby is housing the Hornets Market Food Pantry...The program quickly came together as a room used traditionally as a dressing room for theater productions was dedicated to the cause...[Colby has banded together] to provide a healthy amount of items for the pantry but never expected what kind of support [they] would receive."

The Hornets Market is run by Debbie Roth, Study Hall Advisor, and she is excited and to be able to provide this opportunity for the Colby community. Debbie is amazed by the outpouring of generosity from organizations, companies, individuals, and employees of the district.

The Hornets Market also works to provide learning opportunities for special education resource students. They assist with filling orders, experience real-life scenarios, and gain a variety of life skills.

"The pantry is small right now but it's coming," Roth said."

Thank you for your willingness to try something new in your community and do so with such a generous heart. Feed My People looks forward to watching and partnering with you as you grow into the market you envision for the future!
